About the Artwork

The pinup has existed in one form or another throughout history, but the 1940s, '50s and '60s brought a surge in its popularity. The paintings in this series reference the work of Gil Elvgren, whose illustrations, like many pinups of that era, displayed a humorous tone with a clever visual pun. These images provoke a range of interpretations by a contemporary audience, and for this reason, the pinup provides an irresistible subject of satire for the artist.

About the Artist

Lori Klopp is an award-winning fine artist and illustrator based in New York. Her work has been recognized in national and international competitions, published in numerous magazines and journals, and exhibited in New York, Arkansas, New Mexico and California. She has a master of fine arts degree from Syracuse University. Lori's Southern upbringing informs her fascination with the absurdity of culturally constructed gender roles. Her original paintings for this series are large format oil on canvas. For more information, please visit www.loriklopp.com.
